

3 PUERTO RICANS FIRE ON CONGRESSMEN

About Town

And Country
By TIMOTHEUS T.

Andy Anderson's Uncle Was Inventor of Puffed Wheat, Rice

BOOM: Maybe if it hadn't been for Andy's Uncle Alex we wouldn't have puffed wheat today. Or puffed rice.

However, maybe somebody else would have come along and invented it at a later date, but they didn't get the chance because Andy's Uncle Alex beat them to it.

Andy is Arthur "Andy" Anderson of this city. Bet you know him. And his Uncle Alex is the late Professor Alexander Anderson, who was a professor at the University of Minnesota and who died in 1943.

Professor Anderson, of Swedish descent and a native of Minnesota, went to Germany many years ago to study at the University of Munich. While there he obtained a professorship and as a chemical scientist and in his research developed a system to explode the starch granule. That is how puffed wheat and puffed rice got their start.

He returned to the United States and was professor at the University of Minnesota. He was living at Red Wing, Minn., at the time of his death.

But that isn't all about Andy's relations.

Uncle Andy made enough money out of his invention for his son, John, to become an artist. And John's wife, Eugenie, became an ambassador to Denmark during the Truman administration. Remember Eugenie Anderson?

She's the only one of us Andersons who ever went Democratic. Andy said.

FFA: Timotheus went out to the Parent and Son banquet of the Harrisburg chapter of the Future Farmers of America the other evening and to say I was impressed is putting it mildly.

Prof. Muckleroy of Southern Illinois university put it best when he said that the meeting was one of the best, if not the best, such gathering he had ever attended in his life. And he's been going to them for well over 30 years.

The way the boys got up and talked impressed me as much as anything else. There, at HTHS, they are learning the groundwork for the best practices in agriculture but at the same time they're learning how to get up, without fear of nervousness, and put across what they want to say in an understandable, coherent, straightforward manner.

Two Youths Hurt, Benton Man Jailed After Crash

Two youths were injured and a man was jailed Saturday night following a head-on crash of two automobiles on Route 34 near Rileyville.

Suffering head injuries were David Gowins of Carrier Mills, driver of one car, and Barry Hunter of Harrisburg. Hunter and Curran Jackson Jr. were in the Gowins auto.

Jailed by state police was John Thomas McDaniel of Benton, who was brought to Harrisburg to face charges.

Two men were charged with intoxication here today after the car they were in left Route 13 near Junction about 2 a. m. Sunday. They made their way to Harrisburg and were arrested here. The men, from out-of-state, were Sam D. Caudill and Albert Marlowe Pullard. Officers said the car did not turn at a curve and went out in a field.

There were two other automobile accidents reported by officers. Cars driven by Edgar Joyner, 16, Equality, and Jack Schaeffer, 26, Champaign, collided on Route 45 at the Fourth street intersection south of Eldorado. There were no injuries. The collision occurred about 8:15 p. m. Saturday.

Wilburn Barton of near Eldorado suffered a lacerated hand and a head injury around 4 p. m. Saturday when his auto overturned on Route 45 near the Neal Motel. Reports were that Barton left the road and overturned when a car turned in front of him.

Deneen Watson Withdraws From GOP Race

Chicago Attorney
Throws Support
To Austin Wyman

CHICAGO (AP) — Deneen Watson, Chicago attorney, withdrew as a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination today and threw his support to Austin Wyman, former head of the Chicago Crime Commission.

Watson said he would support Wyman actively in the campaign. He said he would "make every effort" to have his name removed from the ballot but wasn't certain he would succeed.

State authorities usually comply with requests to remove a name from a ballot so long as it has not yet been printed.

Watson said he spent the weekend talking with supporters in Chicago and downstate and obtained assurances from them that they would support Wyman. Among them, he said, was Illinois Supreme Court Justice Ralph Maxwell of Nashville.

Watson also said he talked with another candidate, Edgar N. Elbert, Maywood, trying to win his support for Wyman, but Elbert rejected the suggestion.

Wyman expressed gratification over Watson's decision, and said "We have always had the highest regard for each other. . . . We see eye to eye on the need for a vigorous support of the Eisenhower program and if we both continued as candidates we would merely split the vast majority of the Republicans of Illinois who agree with us."

Wyman said Watson will be chiefly responsible for his campaign in the downstate areas. He said that Anthony Olis, Cook County Sanitary Board member who has supported Watson, also has joined the Wyman camp.

State Mobile X-Ray Unit Here March 2-6

The State Mobile X-Ray Laboratory will be in Harrisburg beginning tomorrow and will be located in the driveway at the court house. The unit will be here from March 2-6 and x-rays will be made daily from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 2 to 5 p. m. except Thursday when the x-rays will be made from 1 to 5 and from 6 to 8 p. m. for the benefit of late shoppers.

The Egyptian Health department, the Saline County Tuberculosis Ass'n and the Tuberculosis Sanatorium Board request everyone to take advantage of the visit of the mobile x-ray laboratory and have chest x-rays made.

The laboratory will also visit Galatia, Eldorado and Carrier Mills on this annual visit.

It will be in Galatia on March 9 at Corkum's grocery.

The laboratory will be in Eldorado March 10-13 at the Texaco service station in the business district and the lobby of Burnett's bank will be used for registration.

At Carrier Mills the laboratory will be on the parking lot March 16-17 and the church will be used for registration.

The hours at Galatia, Eldorado and Carrier Mills will be from 10-1 and 2-5.

Everyone is urged to have chest x-rays made at this time which could discover tuberculosis, heart disease, cancer and other tumors of the chest. Each person gets a personal report, there is no charge and it just takes a minute to have the x-ray made.

Stratton Opposes Rate Increase By Illinois Bell

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Gov. William G. Stratton was on record today as opposing a rate increase for Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

In a surprise move, Stratton issued a 160-word statement saying in his opinion "an increase at this time is not justified."

Bell filed a petition for a $24,900,000 rate hike with the Illinois Commerce Commission Feb. 19. The company has 2,887,000 telephones in 346 Illinois communities.

Stratton said "it is not my intention nor the intention of any commission in this administration to cause undue hardship on any one."

At Chicago, a Bell spokesman agreed with Stratton that there should be a full ICC investigation of the petition within the 11-month period provided by the law.

Bell has obtained three rate increases in Illinois since the end of World War II, totaling more than 70 million dollars a year.

IMPORT DRINKING WATER—Water pollution in the Kaskaskia river in south central Illinois has caused residents in towns along the river to find other sources of water for their use. Here, Shelbyville, Ill. residents line up at their school grounds to get their daily ration of water for drinking and cooking. The water is brought from Cowden, Ill., 14 miles southeast of Shelbyville. (NEA Telephoto)

Sen. Douglas Urges Tax Relief for Low Income Groups in Visit Here

Revisions in the federal tax structure that will give relief to the middle and low income groups are favored by U. S. Senator Paul H. Douglas, it was revealed during a radio program from station WEBQ Sunday afternoon.

Senator Douglas was in Harrisburg for about two hours Sunday and appeared on station WEBQ with Leroy Barham, Harrisburg business man.

The program was the question-and-answer type and in answer to one of Mr. Barham's questions — "Do you believe the tax program proposed by the administration will bring a business revival?" Sen. Douglas answered "No."

He went on to explain the administration's program offered most relief to big business and was on the theory business needed additional capital for expansion programs, but "there is sufficient capital now," Sen. Douglas stated.

"The Democratic party wants tax relief for the small taxpayer, as this will make more money available, increase purchasing power. This is building our economy from the bottom up, putting it on a solid foundation, while the administration's plan will only strengthen the economy at the top."

"We believe our proposals will bring about a business revival out of the present business recession," Sen. Douglas declared.

Regarding this new industry, Sen. Douglas recalled that he had put forth much effort in the past to get industry to locate in this area and had failed, so he didn't make any promises, other than he would do all he could.

He stated he had pointed out to leaders in the industrial field that labor, coal and electric power were available in southern Illinois.

Regarding surplus food, Sen. Douglas stated he would introduce a bill in congress soon aimed at reducing the surplus and putting the food to a good use.

Hold Open House
The food would — 1. Be made available to those persons on relief or unemployed and to orphanages, nursing homes and like places;

2. Be traded to foreign countries rich in materials but short on food stuffs. The United States is dependent on other countries for tin, copper, rubber etc., and countries having these materials are, in many cases, short on food, so such a trade would be profitable to all concerned.

3. Make the food available to CARE and similar organizations.

Senator Douglas and party arrived in Harrisburg about noon Sunday and open house was held at Nick's cafe until time for the broadcast. The party, touring southern Illinois in the interest of Senator Douglas' campaign for reelection, went to West Frankfort from Harrisburg.

Stating "it's your life, are you enjoying it?" Mrs. Sutherland pointed to many examples where people have readjusted their lives following tragedies, and with enthusiasm built completely new, successful lives.

Happiness is found in the intangibles of life which you cannot buy, Mrs. Sutherland said. The everyday experiences bring happiness. "A smile doesn't cost a thing, yet it does a great deal," she said.

Active goodness puts plus in life, the speaker pointed out. Goodness is a growth in life and God made man being to grow, she said. She also stated Christianity is no pastime, it is a testimony of life and that we need faith to get the most out of life.

Until we find enduring peace in ourselves, we cannot find peace between nations, because goodwill spreads to others, Mrs. Sutherland said.

Many of the world's ills are caused by tensions, Mrs. Sutherland stated. So many Americans are "always on the go and restless," but with a little relaxation, a person can go ahead with more zest, she said.

She pointed out that music, books, even politics can be a means for people to get enjoyment out of life.

"Whatever line you enjoy most, take advantage of it; it all adds to the zest of life," she concluded.

Bruce Burnett, president of the club, was in charge of the meeting and introduced the speaker.

The two tax revisions proposed by Senator Douglas are: 1. A drastic reduction in all excise taxes; 2. An immediate increase of personal income tax exemptions from $600 to $800.

It is estimated that such an increase in personal income tax exemptions would release an extra $4.5 billion of purchasing power, or an average of $160 per family per year.

Seeks Plant For Area
The senator, who in the beginning stated he did not consider the country in general to be in a depression, but a recession and added that southern Illinois seemed to be particularly hard hit, revealed he had been making efforts to get an atomic reactor plant located in this area.

Regarding this new industry, Sen. Douglas recalled that he had put forth much effort in the past to get industry to locate in this area and had failed, so he didn't make any promises, other than he would do all he could.

He stated he had pointed out to leaders in the industrial field that labor, coal and electric power were available in southern Illinois.

Regarding surplus food, Sen. Douglas stated he would introduce a bill in congress soon aimed at reducing the surplus and putting the food to a good use.

The ICC acted on the petitions filed by the two firms stating that C-H is unable to pay its debts and must cease operations.

The petition said the firm couldn't make payments for seven buses, is forced to cancel its insurance, is delinquent $25,000 in federal taxes and has other debts of $25,000.

Lease Agreement
The ICC order approved a temporary lease agreement under which Peoria-Rockford Bus Co. will pay Carbondale-Harrisburg 6 cents a mile of operation of C-H routes each month—not less than $4,500 a month—as a rental on the firm's facilities.

Peoria-Rockford Bus company will receive the gross receipts, pay all other pocket expenses out of pocket and will use anything left to discharge the C-H debts.

In a second order, the ICC approved the C-H proposal to curtail bus service between Springfield and Carbondale on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

This proposal previously had been suspended for hearing by the ICC, but the commission vacated this suspension order.

Death Takes Mrs.
Arzella Hill Milburn

Mrs. Arzella Hill Milburn, 73, Harrisburg resident living at 1401 South Granger, died Sunday morning in the Doctor's hospital in Carbondale.

The body is now at the Murrie funeral home in Vienna where it will remain until funeral time which will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Taylor Methodist church north of Vienna. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Dies at Shetlerville
Mrs. Rachel Parkinson, 78, wife of Newt Parkinson and mother of Lee Parkinson, died Sunday at 7:45 a. m. at her home in the Shetlerville community.

The body is now in the Buchanan funeral home in Golconda where the funeral will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. with the Rev. Frank Marshall officiating.

Houston Policeman, Grandson of Galatia Couple, Shot to Death

Fred Maddox Jr., grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Carol Patterson, Galatia Route 3, who was a member of the city police force in Houston, Tex., was shot and killed in a gun battle when he and another fellow policeman were attempting to make an arrest in connection with armed robbery in Houston on Feb. 24.

He is survived by his grandparents, his mother, Mrs. Reacie Patterson Maddox, Houston, Tex., his wife and one daughter.

The funeral was today at the Victory Baptist church, 5113 Humboldt Road in Houston, Tex., and burial was there.

Peoria Firm To Operate C-H Bus Lines

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The Illinois Commerce Commission announced today it has approved an agreement under which the Peoria-Rockford Bus Co. will take over routes of Carbondale-Harrisburg Coach Lines Inc.

Peoria-Rockford Bus Co. operates between Rockford, Peoria and Bloomington. Carbondale-Harrisburg Coach Lines runs between Evansville, Ind., and St. Louis, Mo., and from this route to Decatur and to Carbondale.

The ICC acted on the petitions filed by the two firms stating that C-H is unable to pay its debts and must cease operations.

The petition said the firm couldn't make payments for seven buses, is forced to cancel its insurance, is delinquent $25,000 in federal taxes and has other debts of $25,000.

Rioting Delays Inauguration of Naguib in Egypt

First Appearance
Since Restoration
To the Presidency

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — At least 10 persons were reported killed today and scores were injured in riots which marked the arrival of Egyptian President Mohammed Naguib to attend the inauguration of the first Parliament of the newly freed Sudan.

It was Naguib's first official public appearance since his dramatic restoration to the presidency of Egypt in Cairo, from which he had been ousted last Thursday by the Egyptian Revolutionary Council.

Police listed four policemen and six rioters killed.

The rioters were members of the anti-Egyptian Ansar sect.

The British Exchange Telegraph reported that 20 persons were killed and 117 injured, 32 seriously, in the riots.

Inauguration Postponed
Naguib had flown in triumph to his native Khartoum to speak at the opening of this African country. But because of the riots, the inauguration ceremony was postponed indefinitely.

Members of the dissident Ansar sect massed in front of the Parliament building.

They started battling police who tried to control them. The police used clubs and tear gas in their vain attempt to disperse the rioters. Then troops of the Sudanese defense force were called in.

The Exchange Telegraph said the Ansar mob stormed the gates of the Parliament grounds, shouting "Long live the independence of the Sudan." Rival supporters of the National Union Party yelled "Long live the unity of the Nile."

State of Emergency Continues
Tribesmen massed at the airport shouted "No Britain, no Egypt," as Naguib's plane landed, the Exchange Telegraph dispatch said.

The Exchange Telegraph said the dead included seven police, one of whom was H. S. McQuigan, British commandant of Khartoum police.

Universities in Cairo, Heliopolis and Alexandria were closed after weekend student demonstrations in which one student was killed and 12 students and a policeman injured.

Police opened fire when the students, shouting "Long live Naguib," tried to break through police lines guarding the American and British embassies.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Eighty-year-old Hasham El Atassy entered this ancient capital in triumph as President today after new riots which raised the toll in five days of revolution to at least 12 killed.

Restored to the leadership from which he had been ousted in 1951, Atassy rode into Damascus at the head of a long procession of automobiles carrying leaders of the revolt that threw out dictator Adib Shishakly.

Chester Man is Killed in Crash

GRAND TOWER, Ill. (AP) — Kenneth Barton, 20, Chester, was killed early Sunday in a collision between two autos on Ill. 3 near here.

Junior Lee Vernon, 21, Chester, driver of the car Barton was riding in, and Howard Hollis, 23, Madison, driver of the other car, were injured.

Assert Your Authority Over Lion Cub, Purchaser Advised--He Gels Clobbered

CHICAGO (AP) — Albert Kuchta, 72, who shelled out $150 for a 50-pound lion cub because he wanted to "be a sport," said today he is going to trade the playful cat in on a cocker spaniel.

A lion, like a headstrong woman, must be dominated, the pet store man told Kuchta when he took the cub home Sunday morning.

"Well," said Kuchta, adjusting a bandage, "it didn't take me long to find out who was boss."

The lion, named "Mountie," scratched up Kuchta, and his house, baffled the police and scared off half a dozen veterinarians. Kuchta was saddened by Mountie's conduct.

"I saw her in the window many times when I walked past the pet shop," he said, "and she looked so serene and peaceful."

Tried to Show Who Boss
So he paid the $150 and took the cub home.

While Kuchta was fixing Sunday dinner a pot fell off the stove. Mountie began playing with it, kitten fashion, Kuchta gently tried to take it away, with no luck. Then he tried to show the lion was boss.

Nehru Rejects Eisenhower Offer Of Military Aid

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Premier Jawaharlal Nehru flatly rejected President Eisenhower's offer of military aid today and angrily demanded that American observers get out of disputed Kashmir.

Nehru said the Americans were unwelcome in the divided northern province, where a truce is in effect, because Pakistan has accepted military aid from the United States.

The Americans assailed by Nehru are members of a United Nations team which has been observing the cease-fire in Kashmir, just as Nehru's forces had served in Korea after the truce was signed.

Nehru said the entire dispute between India and Pakistan over strategic Kashmir, which both countries claim, had been reopened by Pakistan's acceptance of Mr. Eisenhower's offer of military assistance.

The rioters were members of the anti-Egyptian Ansar sect.

The British Exchange Telegraph reported that 20 persons were killed and 117 injured, 32 seriously, in the riots.

Five Members Of House Shot From Gallery

Assailants are Quickly Grabbed
By Capitol Police

WASHINGTON (AP)—A girl shouting "Free Puerto Rico" and two men opened fire with pistols on congressmen in the House of Representatives chamber today and wounded several.

The following members of the House were wounded:

Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.) serious wounds in the chest or stomach.

Rep. Ben F. Jensen (R-Iowa), back wounds.

Rep. Clifford Davis (D-Tenn.), wounded in the right leg.

Rep. George H. Fallon (D-Md.), hip wound.

Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D-Ala.) leg wound.

The three assailants—who identified themselves as Puerto Ricans—fired from a public gallery overlooking the chamber.

The woman shouted: "Free Puerto Rico."

Some members dropped to the floor and ducked behind chairs as the fusillade—described by one as sounding like the popping of a string of firecrackers—rang out.

Five members were hit as an estimated 20 shots were fired. Grabbed by Police

Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) wrestled a pistol away from one of the assailants as he attempted to re-load. Then all three were quickly grabbed by Capitol police, turned over to Washington police and hustled to local headquarters.

The girl identified herself as Lolita Lee Bron and said she and her two men companions were Puerto Ricans. One of the men said his name was Rafael Cancel and said he came from Puerto Rico.

The office of Puerto Rican Commissioner Antonio Fernos-Isern said it could not immediately identify either of the two names.

Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end.—Isaiah 9:7.

Barbarous tribes are constantly at war. The western hemisphere had fewer people than a modern city of the third class when Columbus landed. Vast areas were without population, and fear ruled everywhere. There is still room for improvement, and there will be.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Dulles Severely Heckled By
Republican Leader Knowland;
Berlin Conference Branded As A Surrender; Jan Hvasta Gets A Thrill Out Of Washington.

WASHINGTON. — When Dean Acheson used to come back from international conferences President Truman invariably met him at the airport to show that he stood firmly behind his secretary of state and the difficult foreign policies he was trying to execute.

When John Foster Dulles got back from Berlin, however, not only was no President at the airport but he stepped into a hornet's nest of opposition, not from the Democrats, but from his own GOP colleagues on Capitol Hill. Most effective stinger in the hornets' nest was none other than the Republican leader of the Senate, able Bill Knowland of California.

No sooner had Secretary Dulles got the last sentence out of his mouth in reporting to the Senate Foreign Relations committee at a closed-door session, than Senator Knowland sailed into him. Bluntly he challenged Dulles' judgment in agreeing to sit down with Red China at the Geneva conference. This, he said, was a step toward recognition.

Knowland also objected to putting Indo-China on the agenda of the Geneva conference. The Korean war, he pointed out, was a United Nations venture, while the Indo-Chinese war is not.

But, replied Dulles, it would have been impossible to hold the conference at all without including Indo-China. Otherwise it would have looked as if the Russians were willing to settle France's biggest headache while the United States was not.

"The alternative would have been worse," interrupted Undersecretary of State General "Bee" Smith. "The present French government would have fallen, and France would have pulled out of Indo-China altogether."

DISASTER AHEAD

At least one Republican, Wiley of Wisconsin, vigorously stood up for the Republican secretary of state, though several others were sympathetic, including kindly Senator Saltonstall of Massachusetts.

But Knowland still wasn't satisfied. He charged that the French would now settle the war in Indo-

China by establishing a coalition Indo-Chinese government, a coalition which would include Communists. This, he said, would eventually result in the Communists dominating the country — a disaster for the West.

Few other senators questioned the secretary of state. Knowland dominated the cross-examination. He was persistent, outspoken, but never heated. As the closed-door meeting broke up, Dulles remarked pleasantly to his chief heckler:

"I take it that I haven't answered all your questions satisfactorily."

"No, you haven't," Mr. Secretary," agreed Knowland grimly. "No, you haven't."

"We'll have to talk again some more about this," Dulles told Knowland earnestly.

Note — Dulles claimed that the West had scored a diplomatic victory regarding the United European Army because Molotov's tactics were so crude that he strengthened EDC.

FROM JAIL TO CAPITAL

Jan Hvasta, the ex-GI who miraculously escaped from a Czechoslovak jail, was riding past the Capitol building the other evening. It was the first time he had ever been in Washington, and the Capitol dome, under scrutiny of the searchlights, stood in magnificent silhouette against the horizon.

"It certainly gives me a thrill to see that," Hvasta remarked. "I've heard about the buildings here in Washington, but there were times when I never expected to see them."

"People in Czechoslovakia don't get much of a thrill out of their buildings, especially government buildings," he added. "In fact, they don't get any thrill out of their government. But here you do. At least I do, and I think most people do. We may cuss out our government, but we appreciate it just the same. In Czechoslovakia you can't even cuss."

Hvasta was loath to talk in a TV interview about his experiences in the country where he spent four years in jail, plus two years in hiding. But the fact that he was able to hide out for almost two years among the Czech people he attributes to just one thing: their regard for American and their dislike of the Communist regime.

"The word American is a passport in Czechoslovakia," he said, explaining to me how he was able to travel 200 miles from his prison in Leopoldov to the American embassy in Prague. "I never would have been taken in by Czech families along the way had I not been an American."

FREEDOM BALLOONS

Hvasta was greatly interested in the freedom balloons which this writer helped to launch from the German border into Czechoslovakia three years ago, carrying messages of hope and friendship.

"I heard about the balloons though I didn't see any," he said. "What the people there need is exactly this kind of encouragement. All the people behind the Iron Curtain are strong for America, but they have to be reminded that we haven't forgotten them. We have far more friends than we realize, but we don't take advantage of that fact."

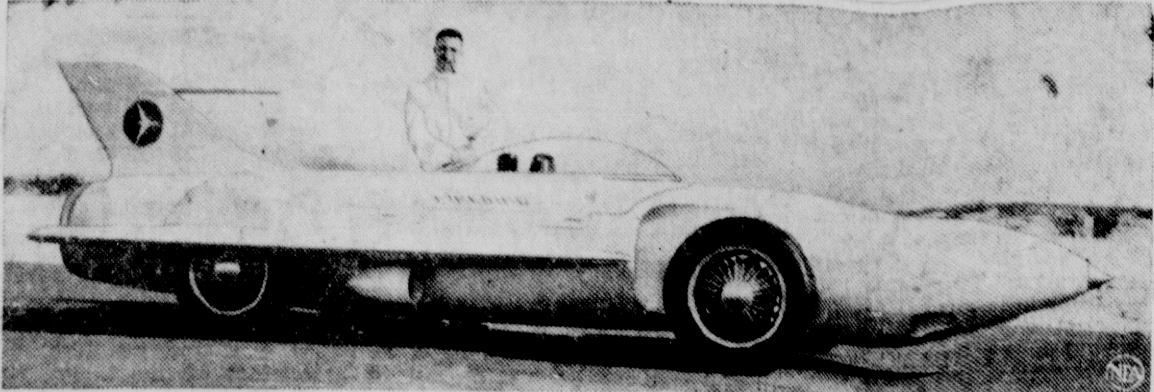

Hvasta was interested to hear that Senator Douglas of Illinois had introduced a bill providing $2,000,000 to send food by balloons behind the Iron Curtain. Congressman Rodino of Newark, N. J., the man who did so much to keep the State Department from forgetting Hvasta's plight, told him he was introducing a companion bill in the House of Representatives.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Lawyers for the New York Times and New York Herald Tribune warned that it was libelous to print the names of the twelve women whom James Roosevelt listed in his incriminating letter to his wife. The letter is not a privileged document.

Several of the twelve women are now cogitating libel suits against papers that did print their names. Last week business failures throughout the United States numbered 277 as against 200 just one year ago. The Democrats are warning up a campaign slogan to fit recession days. It reads: "It's un-American to be unemployed."

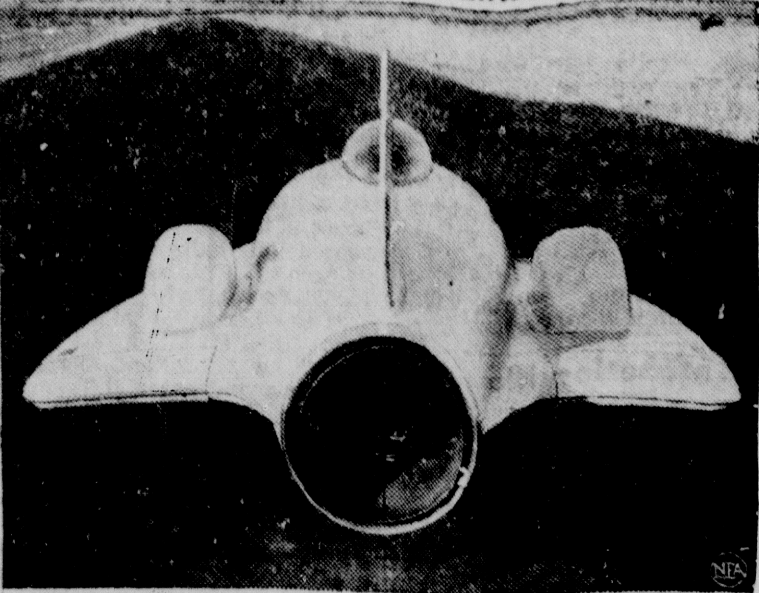

Negro groups have quietly abandoned their fight for an FEPC law and are now planning to seek an amendment to the Taft-Hartley law to make it illegal to deny a man a job because of color. Under Taft-Hartley, it's already illegal to deny a job because of union membership, and Negro leaders want that provision extended to include race and religion.

Test-driver Mauri Rose stands by the "Firebird," the first gas-turbine automobile built and tested in the U. S. It is a single seater with a plastic bubble over the driver's cockpit.

'FIREBIRD'

These are the first pictures of the Firebird, the first turbo-jet car built in the U. S., just unveiled by General Motors in Detroit, Mich. The vehicle, which is purely experimental and not intended for highway use, looks more like a supersonic plane than an automobile. Engineers believe the car can travel over 200 mph. It has reverse pitch wings to keep it on the ground, and wing flaps like an airplane to slow it down. The engine has two units. The gasifier section is where the kerosene burns and turns the gas compressor. These gases are funneled through the power section that is directly connected to the rear wheels. The Firebird is comparable in size to the Cadillac 62 Special convertible now in production.

Rear view shows aerodynamic body with vertical tail fin and swept-back delta wings.

Tea Drinkers Get Break As Coffee Prices Boil

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food & Markets Editor
NEW YORK.—(NEA)—Will the traditional coffee-break of today become the tea-break of tomorrow?

There seems to be a good chance of it if the coffee price future remains as dark as it is right now. Since 1945, according to Bureau of Labor Statistics figures, the price of coffee has boiled up 200 per cent, against 35 per cent for tea.

And while a leading spokesman for the tea industry asserts "we do not anticipate further uppings of tea prices," the top coffee men blackly foresee retail coffee prices at $1.20-$1.25.

Against this, the average price for a quarter-pound of loose tea is 35 cents; 48 tea bags average 58 cents. On the basis of standards established by both industries, you should get 40 cups from a pound of coffee, and 50 cups from a quarter-pound of tea.

Thus, in pantry-shelf arithmetic—even without figuring a boost in coffee prices—today's homemade cup of coffee costs about three-and-a-half times more than a cup of tea. (The actual figures: Coffee, 5.2 times as much as loose tea, 2.6 times as much as tea bag tea.)

Tea consumption in the U. S. has increased by 20 million pounds in the last five years—and by more than one and a half billion cups in 1953 alone. Nevertheless, top tea men insist this steady increase has no connection with the percolating price of coffee.

"Tea producers have no evidence that many people have switched to tea because coffee prices have gone up. Americans do not drink on the basis of economy," Anthony Hyde, executive director of the Tea Council of the U. S., told NEA Service.

"It's simply a matter of more and more Americans discovering they like tea," he added. Also, Americans are learning to brew tea properly. That's a tremendous factor. It used to be that American women made tea too weak, just as British women made coffee too weak."

Until the present price boost, at least, the U. S. apparently hadn't stopped drinking coffee because it discovered tea. In 1910, coffee consumption averaged 304 cups per year per person; today it's figured at 660 cups.

In very round figures, this would be some 100 billion cups, which is an awful lot of coffee. And the experts say that Brazil, the main source for the U. S., doesn't have an awful lot of coffee right now, hence the price rise.

The Brazilian Embassy in Washington says its country's reserve is down to 1,300,000 bags (132 pounds to a bag). The National Coffee Association of the U. S.

says there are only about 400,000 bags in this country today. Both of these figures leave a lot of empty cups when you consider that we imported 20,274,000 bags in 1952, a fairly typical year.

Brazil's shortage is blamed on severe crop shortages due to last year's frost. Since replenishing a coffee crop takes time, experts figure there won't be much more in the pot for about 18 months. Other coffee-producing countries (Colombia ranks second) would need time to boost their crops, too.

Select Jury For Law Suit

The law suit, Bourland vs. C. T. Parks, began this morning in circuit court and a jury was being selected.

Freda Bourland seeks damages for injuries received in a collision which involved the Bourland and Parks automobiles, for the death of her mother, who was a passenger in the car, and her father, Lawrence Bourland seeks damages for his auto. Miss Bourland is administrator of the estate of her mother.

The collision occurred on Route 45 between Harrisburg and Eldorado June 17, 1952.

Representing the plaintiffs is the law firm, Rumsey and Dennis. Atty. DeiWitt Twente and Atty. Charles Jelliffe represent Parks.

Pankeyville Baptist Naomi

Fifth Class Has Regular Social

The Naomi Ruth Sunday school class of the Pankeyville Baptist church met Friday night at the church for the regular class social.

Mrs. Ruth Gates, class president, was in charge of the meeting which opened with the group singing of the class song, "Sweet Hour of Prayer," after which Miss Gertrude Wasson led in prayer.

Mrs. Mary Shell presented a beautiful devotion using the two words "I Believe" in connection with various scriptures.

Mrs. Nancy Sadler was in charge of the recreation and conducted Bible games that were not only amusing but educational. Sunshine Friend gifts were received by most of the ladies present.

Miss Gertrude Wasson was elected reporter for the class.

Before the close of the meeting two of the ladies asked for special prayer for their lost loved ones, and the following women led in volunteer prayer for the church, the pastor and lost friends and loved ones: Mrs. Alta Norman, Mrs. Fannie Owen, Mrs. Hattie Moyer, Mrs. Blanch Shacklett, Mrs. Ruth Gates and Mrs. Blanche Lauderdale.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Miss Flora Chambers.

Mrs. B. E. Montgomery

Hostess to Chapter Z, P.E.O.

Chapter Z, P. E. O., met at the home of Mrs. B. E. Montgomery Friday, Feb. 26. It was announced that the next meeting would be held at the home of Mrs. Bruce Polk.

Mrs. Fred Gilbert, who is visiting from Pasadena, Calif., was a guest.

Mrs. C. E. Combe gave an entertaining account of her recent trip to Paris, France, that she made while visiting her nephew, Lt. Col. Thomas Ozment in Germany. She was accompanied by Mrs. Ozment on this trip where she also visited London and Brussels.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Says Eisenhower Opposes Higher Tax Exemptions

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. said today that President Eisenhower is still opposed to increasing personal income tax exemptions.

The Massachusetts Republican made the statement after a tax program discussion at the White House.

Martin said the House leadership expects to have tax legislation on the floor within two weeks.

Many congressional Democrats are driving for a hike in income tax exemptions. But they are on notice they may run into a presidential veto even should they win the day in Congress.

Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey said Sunday night that unless there is a "drastic" change in the economy he will urge Mr. Eisenhower to veto any bill to raise exemptions.

Humphrey, who approves "a selective reduction" in excise taxes, participated in the White House conference.

Martin and Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland said Mr. Eisenhower took no position today regarding excise taxes because he

NEW

ETHYL

WITH ICA

ICA is a patented Ignition Control Additive.
ICA does more for gasoline than any other discovery in the last 30 years

ICA, a chemical additive, is the result of years of laboratory work and more than 2,000,000 miles of severe road tests. Over 200 chemical compounds were tested. Every chemical that showed any promise of giving better gasoline performance was tried out.

ICA controls ignition, thus eliminating the knocks resulting from pre-ignition; and reduces spark plug fouling. ICA works by minimizing the effect of deposits in the combustion chamber.

No extra charge is made by Ashland for ICA in this premium gasoline. Gasoline with ICA outperforms all others in both old and new cars. It restores new-car performance to older models and retains new-car performance in new cars.

Ashland gasolines are custom-refined to meet rapidly changing local weather conditions. These season-right gasolines are being tested constantly in this area in a fleet of test cars which are equipped with special instruments to record the vital qualities of gasoline — quick starting, power, acceleration, high-speed response, anti-knock, economy.

Results in 1 to 3 tanks full

You should road-test this sensational new gasoline yourself. By the time you have used three tanks full, the deposits in the combustion chamber of your engine will be changed and you should be able to tell the difference. Have your friendly Ashland Oil dealer fill your tank with greater-than-ever Ashland Ethyl with miracle ICA!

HERE'S WHAT'S BEHIND NEW ASHLAND ETHYL WITH ICA...

Over 200 different compounds tested!

ICA did more to improve ignition control than any other compound.

117,000 test hours in laboratory engines!

ICA passed successfully every type of rigorous laboratory test.

Marratt suddenly rasped harshly. "Did you follow the trail? Did you wonder why I killed Cragg—why I made no defense?"

"I thought perhaps there was a woman—"

"It was a girl. Just a kid—a 14-year-old orphan girl whose folks had been neighbors of mine till some half-drunk Pimas came onto them one night and rubbed them out. The girl was away, visiting an aunt at the time. She went ahead by herself and put in a planting, 40 acres of alfalfa which I'd agreed to buy from her; had it just about ready for cutting when this Cragg came along."

Marratt stopped for a moment. Frailey, watching with gray cheeks, saw the way the big bones shone through the skin of his fists. He didn't speak and Marratt said, "After Cragg left she'd tried to shoot herself. She hadn't done a good job but even a poor one will serve if enough blood is spilled."

He swallowed hard a couple of times. "She was on her last gasp when Charlie, a friend, found her. There'd been two of them, this badge-packer and an older skunk which she said was his partner. I got their descriptions."

Frailey said at last, and his voice sounded like he might have got smoke up his windpipe. "Man, you didn't have to go to Yuma for that. They'd have—"

"Would you have dragged her shame through all of those papers? The folks thought she'd had an accident."

Marratt pulled his hip off the desk and took a turn about the room. "All the time I was in prison I kept thinking about that other guy, the older devil that had got clean away. And I watched my chance. I knew from the girl's description of his rig that he had come from the south, from the desert country. I didn't know until this morning, when you introduced him to me."

Frailey shook his head. "I've known Clem Ryerson for 30 years and I can't believe it. Consider Naome. She was left without a mother before she was hardly out of swaddling clothes; her whole outlook is the result of Ryerson's companionship and guidance. If the man had that kind of quirk in his character—"

He broke off, eyes staring, as feet drummed sound from the outside stairs. A voice cried, "Lute!" and they stood as though frozen while the door burst open to disclose Naome, the black mop of her hair tumbled about by the wind, the whole look of her telling how near she'd come to hysteria.

"They've got Dad!"

Marratt stared at the girl with disbelieving eyes. It seemed incredible that Cragg, before getting hold of those checks, would risk the whole structure of all he had schemed for by laying violent hands on the man who had made it all possible. He said as much and Frailey, intent on reassuring her nodded. "He's probably gone off on another prospecting trip."

"In his good clothes? Without a word?" Her probing stare searched their faces. "I don't believe it. Luke coming home and then those checks right on top of it and Tulsa crippled... Cragg frightened! Dad's safe's been broken open—there were papers all over the floor!"

"It don't make sense," Marratt grumbled, picking up the surprise he had for Cragg and thrusting the three loose checks in his pocket. "But if you'll stay here with Doc I'll go out there—"

Frailey said hurriedly, "The whole thing may be a ruse."

With a strangled cry he fled, recklessly plunging down the dark stairs. But at their bottom he pulled up, his mind taking hold of the doctor's words. It could be a ruse; yet, even as he conceded this, he discovered a flaw in such an assumption. Cragg, if he had been trying to trap Usher, would have used the girl—not her father.

Trascibly Marratt pulled a hand through his hair and wondered what had become of his hat. It was one of those irrelevancies which seem important in a crisis though you know all the time they have no right usurping thought needed elsewhere.

He struck out toward the Red Horse bar.

Shoving through the saloon's batwings, Marratt looked the place over with a hard wintry stare which failed to discover the least sign of anything hostile among the assembled half dozen who were belling the bar.

The bartender's spraddled lips showed a parched kind of smiling. "Hare you, Mr. Usher? We heard you was back. Figurin' to put the old place on its feet again?"

"I'd like to borrow a knife," Marratt said. "A good sharp one."

"You want to pare your nails, maybe?"

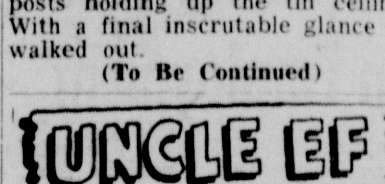

"A skinnin' knife, I think would be nearer what I'm after."

The bartender's eyes turned a little apprehensive. He slunched a look at the wholly still wooden-faced customers. "Any you boys got a skinnin' knife on you?"

Someone produced one. He shuffled off to get it. The gleam of sweat was on his cheeks and damply beading his flaccid jowls as he came back and reluctantly laid it down before Marratt.

Marratt got out his "warning to skunks" and, with the knife, silently skewered it to one of the posts holding up the tin ceiling. With a final inscrutable glance he walked out.

SIU Trustees Approve 12-Year Plan for Outdoor Education at Little Grassy Lake

CARBONDALE, Ill. — A broad master plan for year-round outdoor education in science, fine arts, and physical education at Little Grassy Lake was approved Friday by the Southern Illinois university board of trustees.

The board received details on a proposed 12-year development plan providing a supplementary educational facility on 545 acres around the lake, about eight miles east of here. The plan now needs approval of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

SIU students and grade and high school youngsters of the University school, Southern's teacher training laboratory, would be among those benefitting from the program, the board was informed.

In addition to offering academic courses, camping and recreation to college students and those in the University school, the camp would give educational training and physical and mental therapy for handicapped children of southern Illinois.

Some 400 acres of the land involved in the program is already owned by the university. The remainder is under lease from the Fish and Wildlife Service, and other property of the federal agency would be used by SIU for research projects in conservation.

Howard W. Baker, regional director of the National Park Service at Omaha, has already reviewed the master plan and informed the Fish and Wildlife Service it has been "commendably executed with full consideration being given to essential factors."

"In the school camp, under the expert guidance of trained teachers, children build their sense of values," said Mrs. Ross Merriek and William H. Freeburg of the university staff, who prepared the plan. "Here, the work is purposeful and relates directly to the school curriculum."

Broadened Program

The ambitious 12-year program would be built from a pilot camp that has been in operation by the University at Little Grassy Lake since 1939. Southern Illinois youngsters are invited there during the summer months and SIU student teachers receive training in outdoor education and counseling.

The broadened program calls for a fine arts camp with provisions for training in art, music, speech and dramatics, along with physical and recreational training. It will afford opportunities for special training in conservation education, such as facilities for wildlife refuge, bird sanctuaries, botanical gardens, arboreta, nature trails, aquariums, lakeside laboratories for fish research, and experimental hatcheries for fish and wildlife.

Construction during the first 12 years would include a dining building and lodge, cabins for students and camp directors, and health building, beach, road, and water line, all of which would be within the area under lease from the Fish and Wildlife Service.

College and high school students studying music and dramatics would eventually be enabled to stay at the camp for varying periods, devoting about five to six hours a day to instruction in these fields and two to three hours to recreation. Short courses, refresher courses and workshops would also be offered and students would present outdoor pageants, concerts and other entertainment for the general public at the camp site.

Work Experience

Handicapped children would be given camping experience, and opportunity to take part in games, sports, and nature studies while receiving therapy for mental and physical defects. Adult recreation programs and workshops for practicing teachers, musicians and artists are also planned.

Campers would be given work experience in such things as improvement of the camp area, fire-fighting and fire prevention, reforestation, soil conservation, and fish and wildlife management. Recreational activities would include hiking, camps, swimming, boating, skating, skiing, archery, hunting and fishing, woodcrafts and camp-fire programs.

Each summer three to four million children attend summer camps, the master plan for the camp stated, but most of these groups are centered around recreation, sport, religion or some other special interest. These programs offer no substitute, the report said, for a well-planned, well-supervised school camp program teaching subjects best suited for an outdoor educational laboratory.

SIU Art Department Schedules Night Classes

The Art department and the Vocational Technical Institute of Southern Illinois university announce the scheduling of night classes on the campus during the twelve week period beginning the week of March first.

A class in beginning jewelry will meet Tuesday evenings, 7 to 10 p. m., in room 101 of the Allyn building; registration and first date of meeting, March second. A class in beginning pottery will meet on Wednesday evenings, 7 to 10 p. m., in room 109 of the Allyn building; registration and first date of meeting, March third.

Both classes will be taught by Leon Mohurg of the Art department staff. Persons interested in hobby-craft experience are invited to attend.

The answers to everyday insurance problems By BILL GHENT

QUESTION: Will "Rental Income" insurance guarantee rentals to the owner of income property regardless of what causes the loss of rents?

ANSWER: No, there are too many uncontrollable factors in the loss of tenants and rentals for all to be covered by insurance. Rental Insurance policies provide for protection against rent losses due to fire or other damage to the premises.

Administration Hopes for Rise In Employment

WASHINGTON 1P — The administration looked hopefully for a rise in employment today as the nation entered a month President Eisenhower has called critical for the economy.

Mr. Eisenhower told his news conference two weeks ago that March is a key month when there is supposed to be a natural upswing in employment.

If this doesn't happen, he said it would be a definite warning calling for government measures — possibly including tax concessions — to bolster the economy.

As the big month began, the administration displayed confidence. Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey said Sunday night in a television interview that there is nothing alarming about the present economic dip.

He declared that the nation is experiencing the second most prosperous period in its history and that there is no need for pump-priming general income tax cuts unless there is some "drastic" change.

Other government officials reported a "good chance" that employment will pick up some during the month, even though there probably won't be any sizeable increase until June or July.

The Census Bureau tentatively estimated unemployment at 3,087,000 during the first week of January. Figures for the first of February, due in a few days, are expected to show an increase of several hundred thousand.

Friday the government reported that the number of persons claiming unemployment insurance rose in mid-February to 2,179,000, the highest since February, 1950.

But the experts said there are signs the decline in jobs is leveling off. They figure it should stop altogether as farmers and construction workers go back to work this spring.

Government economists also expect inventories — goods backed up in manufacturing and trade channels — to decline as spring sales pick up. These accumulated inventories are cited by the administration as a major cause of the current dip.

VA Benefits Are Tax Exempt

Payments to veterans for benefits administered by the Veterans Administration are tax-free and need not be reported in computing income tax, the Internal Revenue Service and the VA today reminded veterans.

Also, dividends which veterans have received on their GI insurance policies are exempt from taxation and need not be reported.

Among the tax-exempt VA benefits are the following:

Education and training allowances paid to post-Korean veterans enrolled in schools and training establishments under the Korean GI Bill.

Subsistence allowances for World War Two veterans training under the original GI Bill.

Subsistence payments made to disabled World War Two and Korean veterans in training under Public Law 16, the Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

Payments by VA, up to a maximum of $160, which were applied to veterans' GI loans obtained before August 31, 1953. The gratuity has been suspended, by law, on loans obtained after that date.

Disability compensation and pensions paid to veterans for both service-connected and non-service-connected disabilities.

Grants for seriously disabled veterans for homes designed for wheelchair living.

World War One emergency officers' retirement pay.

Death benefits to families of deceased veterans also are exempt from taxation, it was pointed out. These include compensation, pension and all GI insurance payments.

Armed Forces Gear for Long Cold War: Radford

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said today America's armed forces are gearing for a "long pull" in the cold war which might last "10 or 20 years or more."

"The Communist world has no time limit for the accomplishment of its objectives," Radford said, adding that the aim of the Soviet strategy is to "create situations which pose to us courses of action, all of which are unpleasant or which have definite disadvantages to us."

Although he did not believe the Kremlin wants "a shooting war at this time," Radford warned there is the possibility one might be touched off "as a result of

Indiana Clinches Tie for Title; Pressure on Iowa, Illini in Remaining Games

CHICAGO (AP)—The pressure was on challenging Iowa and Illinois today to post Big Ten victories, tonight and retain a chance to tie Indiana for the conference basketball crown.

Both the Hawkeyes and Illini will be in action and, should one of them lose, it will mean elimination from the title race. Iowa's game at home against Ohio State will be the final for the Hawks. Illinois also will be at home against Northwestern and the Illini need to win to gain half a game on the league-leading Hoosiers.

Indiana returned to its top form Saturday to post an 84-68 victory over Ohio State at Columbus and clinch at least a tie for the Big Ten title.

Iowa's chances to gain a share of the title depended as much on Illinois as on the Hawkeyes. An Iowa win over the Bucks would mean the Hawkeyes could gain a share of the league title only if Illinois can beat Indiana in the finale for both teams at Indiana Saturday.

Three-Way Tie Possible
Illinois, by winning over Northwestern, also could climb into a title tie by winning its last game. Hence a three-way tie was possible should Iowa win tonight while Illinois, now winner of six straight, should capture both its remaining scraps.

Going into its final game, Iowa was in second place, a game behind Indiana, and half a game ahead of third place Illinois. Indiana had no trouble with Ohio State Saturday. The Hoosiers put in a 29-point second period to gain a 16-point lead and thereafter never were threatened. Don Schlundt, the league-leading scorer, downed 27 points.

Iowa started slowly against Michigan State and the Spartans, who suffered their sixth straight defeat, led for the first 20 minutes. But in the third period Bill Seaberg hit two straight field goals for a 33-30 Iowa margin and thereafter Michigan State never threatened, getting only 7 points to Iowa's 18 in the third period.

Kerr Scores 23 Points
Illinois, leading all the way, had little trouble with Michigan in gaining a 79-61 decision as John Kerr, second to Schlundt in scoring, netted 23 points.

Minnesota's Dick Garmaker bagged 32 points to pace the fourth place Gophers to an 81-69 win over Northwestern, breaking a five-game Wildcat winning streak. Purdue bounced Wisconsin, 71-66, in the fifth league scrap.

Other games tonight will be Purdue at Michigan and Michigan State at Wisconsin.

La Grange Favored to Repeat In State Finals as Regional Tourney Play Opens Tonight

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Basketball fever gripped downstate Illinois today as 480 prep teams paired off in regional tournaments.

Twenty-six regionals open tonight and the other 34 get underway Tuesday. Winners will be crowned Friday night.

The 60 regional titlists advance to 15 sectional meets. Sectional survivors, plus Chicago's champion, make up the "Sweet Sixteen" vying at Champaign March 17-20 for the coveted state crown.

Defending state champion La Grange is favored to repeat. The tall Lions, led by big Ted Caiazza, won 19 out of 20 games this season. But the road to Champaign is a rocky one, with pitfalls galore. No fan from any other area would concede the Lions the title.

La Grange launches its defense of the championships against Morgan Park Military Academy tonight in the Riverside regional. Downers Grove meets the host five in the second game.

Sloan May Have New Champ
Probably the biggest threat La Grange faces in the regional comes from Cicero Morton, top-seeded in the lower bracket. Morton has a 17-2 record and has won 16 in a row.

La Grange lost the coach who guided the Lions to the 1953 crown—Greg Sloan—to a new school, Rich Twp. of Park Forest. There are those who say Sloan may have a champ again this year.

Park Forest dropped its opener of the season, then won 23 straight including the Beecher district title. Park Forest is entered in the Joliet regional, along with Harvey Thorton, Chicago Heights Bloom, and other suburban area threats.

Southeastern Illinois fans should see some fireworks in the Mount Carmel regional, where the hosts and Grayville are seeded one-two. Sparked by star Archie Dees,

Looking AT Sports

By ED KIRKPATRICK

There's no reason for us to keep it a secret. We're picking Harrisburg over Fairfield in the regional tournament action tomorrow night at Mt. Vernon. Coach Lawrence Caluffetti's boys have been showing improvement right along, and there is no reason they shouldn't eliminate Fairfield, if they play ball. We think a good representation from Harrisburg on the sidelines can aid measurably to the Bull Dogs' chances.

Lew Winkler, that man who writes the column for the Wayne Co. Record, says Fairfield's season can best be described as an "off" one. The Mules are in their first year under the coaching direction of June L. Gross. They completed the season last Friday night with a six win, 18 lost record. Like Caluffetti, Gross has dipped down into his underclassmen for building material. Winkler thinks the Mules will be more difficult to handle next year.

Who knows, the Bull Dogs might pull a Shawneetown in this tourney, beating Fairfield in the opening round and then upsetting Mt. Vernon en route to the title. Well, no one gave the Indians much of a chance either.

Something must be said for this ball-control game. Did you ever hear of a team hitting 529 from the field and 21 of 24 free tosses in the same game and still getting beat? What's even more amazing is the fact that the winner hit only 452 from the court, 18 of 22 from the foul line. Ridgway turned in the feat against Crab Orchard, and almost repeated the performance the next night against Thompsonville. Of course, ball control doesn't pay off every time, but then someone always loses no matter what style of game is played. We think Coach Al Penman did an able job with a team that couldn't find itself early in the season.

Our board of viewers came up with this All-Tourney team from last week's Ridgway district play. Based on showing in the tourney, here's the team:

Forwards
Logsdon, Thompsonville
Nolen, Shawneetown
Hise, Ridgway

Centers
Spottsville, Shawneetown
Upchurch, Galatia

Guards
Newsom, Shawneetown
Simpson, Thompsonville
Sturgill, Ridgway

There were several other good boys, and our honorable mention go to Proctor, Crab Orchard; Duane, Galatia; Wooley, Equality; Isaacs and Schwabe, Thompsonville; Downen and L. Drone, Ridgway; and Willis and Duff, Shawneetown.

Here's the tourney's top eight scorers:
Player School gp tp avg.
Newsom, S-town 3 60 20
Nolen, S-town 3 59 19.7
Logsdon, T-ville 2 39 19.5
Sturgill, Ridgway 2 28 14
Spottsville, S-town 3 41 13.7
Simpson, T-ville 2 25 12.5
Isaacs, T-ville 2 25 12.5
Hise, Ridgway 2 24 12

TOURNEY SIDELIGHTS—Dick Sturgill's heavy in the last second of the Ridgway-Thompsonville game will be remembered by spectators for years. We glanced at Tiger Coach Bob Munday's face just after the shot. Even Munday had to grin as he pulled one ear and shuffled a foot. Ridgway's high school band did a fine job of entertaining all three nights, but the German band (or was it Russian) made a big hit Thursday night, serenading each of the rooting sections. Thompsonville had 49 free throw attempts in the game against Ridgway. They made 33.

Ridgway hit 19 of 23 from the charity line the same game and outscored the Tigers from the field, 23 goals to 18. Newsom, probably the most outstanding player of the entire tourney, hit 460 from the field in the three games, and made 14 of 15 free throws. Duff hit eight of eight foul tosses in the three games. Coach Barney Genisio regards his club as the "Cinderella Team" of the tourney. Bob Farris' Galatia teams have always been eliminated in IHSAA tourney play by the eventual winner. Logsdon collected 24 points in the final game for the highest individual single game performance.

"Kayo" Willis has a right to feel his boys didn't do so badly. They were within one-point of the ultimate champs with only four minutes playing time remaining. McLeansboro's Foxes were spectators at the championship tiff Friday.

Mt. Vernon Defeats Carmi Graders, 51-40, To Win State Title

Mt. Vernon copped top honors in the southern Illinois state grade school tournament held at Herrin last week. In the title tilt Mt. Vernon defeated Carmi 51-40. Harrisburg's Junior high school team advanced into the state competition but lost in first round play to Mt. Vernon, 70-51.

Price of Harrisburg was given honorable mention for a forward position on the tournament all-star team.

Bull Dogs Drop 82-74 Tilt to Johnston City; In Regional Tuesday

Locals Will Meet Fairfield; Eldorado Plays Shawneetown

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs, their regular season completed at Johnston City Saturday night, this week turned their sights on the Mt. Vernon regional basketball tourney, where they meet Fairfield at 8:30 p. m. tomorrow.

The Bull Dogs will play following the Mt. Vernon-Cisne tilt at 7 p. m., which is the opening clash of the tourney. Wednesday at 7 p. m. McLeansboro will meet Wayne City and at 8:30 Eldorado and Shawneetown will tangle.

Semi-finals will be at 7 and 8:30 p. m. Thursday and the tilt for the championship will be at 8 p. m. Friday.

Prices for the tourney are: Single sessions, adults 75 cents and students 40 cents; reserved chairs $1, and reserved bleacher seats (semi-finals and finals only) 85 cents. Season tickets, students $1.25 and reserved chairs $3.

Indians Lead 40-21 at Half
And now back to the Saturday night affair. The Bull Dogs lost to the Indians in the season finale, 82-74, a far cry from the 90 to 63 rout by Johnston City at Davenport gym just before Christmas.

Despite the close score, it most certainly looked like the Indians might be on their way to splitting the scalp wider in this second meeting of the two teams this year. The game was close the first four minutes, being tied at 2-2, 4-4, 6-6, 7-7 and 9-9, but at that point the fastbreaking Williamson county

Bull Pups Win, 64-46
The Harrisburg Bull Pups, who have looked good despite losses since their game at Mt. Vernon a couple of weeks ago, trounced the Papooses in the preliminary, 63-46. Johnston City led 9-7 at the quarter but the locals came out ahead 24-22 at halftime. In the last two periods it was all Harrisburg.

The local players and the scoring: Bennie Fulkerson 18, Joe Lee Dorris 11, Jack Wright 9, Bill Henshaw, Don McGowan and Everett Evans 6 each, Bill Bottomley 4, Bryan Jones 3, Johnny Ziegler 0, Freddie McKenzie 0 and Wayne Stone 0.

Connecticut (21-2) accepted an NCAA bid Sunday night as the newly-crowned New England Conference champion—a title it won with a stunning 78-77 upset of Holy Cross Saturday night. The Uconnns, 14th team to enter the 24-team NCAA field, will clash with Navy in a first-round tourney game at Fort Wayne, Ind., March 8.

Holy Cross' wounds were salved with a bid to the National Invitational tournament. The Crusaders (22-2) were quickly followed into the NIT fold by Bowling Green (16-6) and that left only one more place to be filled in the 12-team carnival that opens at Madison Square Garden with a tripleheader this Saturday night.

Lawrence Tech of Detroit and the runnerup in the Southwest Conference race (either Texas or Rice) were believed the leading candidates for the remaining NIT bid.

Duquesne, barred from a perfect season by two surprise losses to Cincinnati and Dayton during the weekend, was named as one of the four seeded teams for the NIT, along with Western Kentucky, Holy Cross, and Niagara. Pairings have not yet been announced.

The 10 empty berths still left in the NCAA are reserved for conference champions as yet not determined.

Mickey Vernon is Put On Market by Angry Clark Griffith
By Mickey Press
Holdout Mickey Vernon, the "favorite player" of President Eisenhower, was thrown on the open market today by angry Clark Griffith of Washington, who said he was sick and tired of the veteran first baseman's "unreasonable demands."

"We'll trade Vernon in a minute if we can get a starting pitcher for him," stormed Griffith, the Senators' 84-year-old owner. "I've run out of patience with him."

The 35-year-old Vernon, who won the American League batting crown with a .357 average last season, is reportedly sought by both Detroit and Baltimore. He drew $19,000 last season, was offered $25,000 this year but is said to be seeking more than $30,000.

During a visit to the White House last year, Griffith was told personally by Mr. Eisenhower that the quiet, modest Vernon was his favorite big league player.

WEBQ to Broadcast Regional Tournament Games by Area Teams

Starting with tonight's Carrier Mills-Zeigler game in the Benton regional basketball tournament Ken Hamilton and Elmer Gladson will broadcast over WEBQ all tourney games involving local area teams. Tuesday they will go to Mt. Vernon to air the Harrisburg-Fairfield game, then Wednesday they will broadcast the Eldorado-Shawneetown game at the Mt. Vernon regional and also Carrier Mills in the semi-finals at Benton, providing the Wildcats advance through first round competition.

"We will be on the air as long as local teams are playing, either at Mt. Vernon or Benton," Hamilton stated today.

Tonight's Carrier Mills-Zeigler game is slated for 8:30. Benton and Sesser meet in the opening game of the tourney, tipoff time 7 p. m.

Gas Explosion In Philadelphia Kills 5 Persons

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Five persons were killed and two others miraculously escaped serious injury in a savage gas explosion that rocked a crowded residential neighborhood Sunday night.

The dead, three of them youngsters, were trapped as the blast ripped apart two adjoining three-story buildings and created a panic in the neighborhood. The total injured was 26.

The dead were identified as: Isadore Pearlman, 43; Mrs. Fannie Rudolph, 54; Marie Marone, 16; Bruce Schwartz, 9, and Salvatore Baldino, 6.

The two persons saved when the falling rubble created a shield for them were Marion Nixon, 42, and 17-year old Ruby Mosely, who chatted and joked with her rescuers as they fought their way into the smashed telephone booth where she was trapped.

She asked for a cup of tea at one point, and firemen passed her a cup of water. She shied them, and said, "When I ask for a cup of tea, I want a cup of tea."

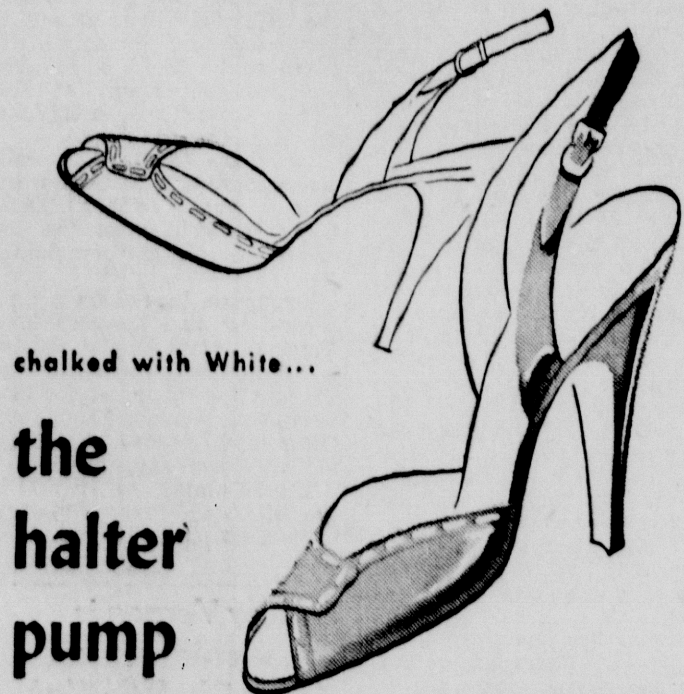

The violent explosion that "sounded like a bomb" hurled tons of debris across the narrow residential street and stampeded 150 patrons at a nearby theater.

The wrecked buildings contained a ground floor luncheonette and jewelry store, and each had apartments on the second and third floors.

The more than 50 families made homeless by the blast, which was attributed to a leaking gas pipe in the basement of one of the buildings, were removed to nearby schools where the Red Cross set up emergency shelters.
